Project Description:

The client wanted to create a haven for her two sons to hang out with family and friends. Problem: The cost of removing and reinstalling the fence would take the clients out of their budget range, so we were limited with bringing large equipment and materials close. Also, the two children are several years apart in age, so it had to be fun for the toddler, mature enough for the teen, and still flow throughout. Solution: We created a space that worked for the entire family that offered a space to gather around a fire pit, grill area, and installed sod for a safe section to play. Result: We have a custom rock pattern done by hand that highlights the patio seating area; as well as separates it from the designated play area, all while offering a uniformed yard for the entire family.
